King calls for rebuilding ‘a truly global, inclusive system that leaves no one behind’

His Majesty King Abdullah on Monday participated in the World Economic Forum’s Virtual Sustainable Development Impact Summit, held under the theme “Realising a Great Reset for Sustainable Development”. The theme is in line with the concept of “re-globalisation”, which has been highlighted by King Abdullah, first in an opinion piece published in The Washington Post in April, according to a Royal Court statement. His Majesty said rebuilding the international system towards a more inclusive economic recovery starts from the ground up, through mutually beneficial partnerships that form a global safety net to alleviate poverty and unemployment, bolster food security and safeguard the environment. The King urged participants at the summit “to look at opportunities to seize, and ways to collaborate, to rebuild a truly global, inclusive system that leaves no one behind”.

Upcoming parliamentary polls to see half million first-time voters — Maaytah

About half a million young citizens will be voting for the first time in the upcoming parliamentary elections, slated for November 10, in addition to nearly 1.5 million young men and women under the age of 30 who are eligible to vote, Minister of Political and Parliamentary Affairs Musa Maaytah said on Sunday. The minister's remarks came during a virtual dialogue session attended by a number of young people from Irbid Governorate, which came as part of the "Enhancing youth participation in 2020 parliamentary elections" programme within the "Your Vote, Your Future" campaign, implemented in partnership with UNDP and UN Women.
